Judge Lashes
Defense Argument

WASHINGTON, April 19—John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers were convicted today of both criminal and civil contempt of court in defying an injunction against the recent 29-day soft coal strike.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough postponed pronouncement of sentence until 10 a. m. (EST) tomorrow and announced that he would ask the government to recommend appropriate punishment.

The jurist lashed out at the defense contention that the 400,000 coal miners left their jobs voluntarily and declared that "beyond all reasonable doubt" Lewis called a strike.

Goldsborough called the defense argument that there had been no strike "simply ridiculous."

THE JURIST, who 18 months ago fined Lewis and the union a total of $3,510,000 on a similar contempt conviction, declared:

"The court thinks there is no difficulty about deciding that the evidence, beyond all reasonable doubt, and practically beyond all doubt, is sufficient to show that a strike was called, and, of course, is sufficient to show that the defendants are guilty of criminal contempt."

Goldsborough declared that Lewis called the miners away from the pits by "a wink, a nod, and the use of a code" instead of using the word "strike."

There was no immediate indication as to what punishment the Justice department would recommend. The supreme court, in the 1946 case, reduced the heavy fines levied by Goldsborough to a $700,000 fine against the UMW and $10,000 against Lewis personally.

In finding Lewis guilty, the jurist said that he was announcing:

Reinforced Flood Wall Holding As River Falls

CINCINNATI, April 19—New Kentuck's reinforced flood wall appeared to be holding nicely today against a falling Ohio river, and Mayor Oscar Hesch reported that "victory is ours if we can hold the levee for 48 hours longer."

All day yesterday, 1,800 civilians helped 500 Camp Campbell, Ky., soldiers and 100 Northern Kentucky auxiliary police and firemen fight back the flood waters and hordes of motorists who came to snap "action pictures" of the flood.

Today, the civilians were back in their homes and the sleepless army of soldiers continued its round the clock battle to save 1,000 homes as the crest rolled downstream from Cincinnati.

The river at Cincinnati and Newport stood at 64.5 feet this morning—down .3 feet from its second and final crest reached early Sunday. Flood stage at the Queen City is 52 feet.

THE DEATH toll from the flood waters has reached nine. Millions of dollars in property damage has been caused.

Across the river from Cincinnati, which has been flooded in the low-lying sections, the Newport volunteers have averaged only about five hours' sleep since they began their fight last Wednesday.

They worked feverishly to contain the floodwaters behind a 2,000-foot dike guarding 1,000 homes. Sand bags have been piled to a height of 10 feet atop the levee.

Verdict Is Taken In Full Silence

PITTSBURGH, April 19—The rank and file of the United Mine Workers and their district leaders today took Judge T. Alan Goldsborough's verdict of "guilty" in stunned silence.

A "no comment" attitude prevailed as first reports of their reaction were received.

Earlier today Western Pennsylvania miners, who had been reluctant to pick up their tools until they found out what would happen to Lewis, had begun to trek back to the pits without awaiting Goldsborough's decision.

The Western Pennsylvania coal operators association reported that about 50,000 of that area's 56,000 miners were back on the job with the 7 a. m. shift this morning and that production was expected to be 90 percent of capacity today.

State Building Gets Go-Ahead

COLUMBUS, April 19—Gov. Herbert authorized Public Works Director George Sowers today to proceed at once with construction of a new state office building at the northeast corner of Front and State Streets here.

The site, now privately owned and occupied by a parking lot, has a frontage of 250 feet on Front street and 187½ feet on State street, for an area of 46,875 feet.

The latest word from the White House is that the whole building is to be fireproofed, and the 97th assembly reappropriated the sum, but nothing else has been done to date.

Sixth A-Energy Experiment Staged On Eniwetok Atoll

WASHINGTON, April 19—The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that a secret test of "an atomic weapon" has been completed at the proving ground on Eniwetok atoll in the Marshall Islands.

Observers in Washington believe that the test involved a super-atom bomb many times more powerful than the missiles which destroyed Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The commission's announcement was made in guarded terms and stressed the secrecy surrounding the mid-Pacific atomic proving grounds and the momentous experiments being carried on there.

The date of the new test was withheld "for security reasons."

However, the test is believed to have coincided with Secretary of Defense Forrestal's disclosure to Congress that Soviet Russia now knows the secret of the atom bomb but lacks the manufacturing "know-how" at this time.

THE ENIWETOK test took place, according to the Atomic Energy Commission, "under simulated operation conditions."

The experiment involved the use of a highly secret atomic task force of aircraft and naval vessels.

The commission said that a full report of the test is being made to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy.

Other tests are scheduled in the near future.

The commission served notice last December that extreme hazards would exist in a wide area around Eniwetok throughout 1948.

The complete secrecy which surrounds the nation's atomic experimentation was further indicated today by a White House announcement revealing that President Truman will keep the commission intact when terms of the five-man commission expire next August.

THE ENIWETOK experiment marked the sixth major use of atomic weapons since the dread missile which harnesses the overwhelming forces of nature was developed during World War II.

Chamber officials reported their ticket sales "bogged down" and that capacity houses were not in evidence at either afternoon or evening performances.

WAGNER BOOMS FOR SENATE OK OF HOUSING BILL

WASHINGTON, April 19—Sen. Wagner, (D) N. Y., jumped into the Senate housing fight today with a warning that the seeds of subversive philosophy will flourish in American slums "as they did in Bogota."

He called attention to the long-range housing bill came to the aid of Sen. Robert A. Taft in his battle with Sen. McCarthy, (R) Wis., over amendments to the legislation.

Wagner issued a statement opposing "further refinements" in the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill.

He added that the officers were reluctant to discuss the matter but expressed belief the Russians were making reconnaissance flights over Alaska.

Another member of the congressional group which made the trip said it was common talk among military personnel in Alaska that United States planes were making similar flights over Eastern Siberia.

THE JONKMAN'S remarks, followed in the wake of charges and official denials that Russian planes were making unauthorized flights over America's northern territory.

2-1 Edge Shown In Returns

The ministry of interior announced that the percentage of voters who went to the polls yesterday far exceeded the turnout in the 1946 elections.

Interior ministry officials forecast that before the polls close today, about 90 percent of Italy's 29 million voters will have cast ballots.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi, leader of the Christian Democrats, main anti-Communist party, warned, however, that no anti-Communist landslide is indicated. He predicted that there will be no great change in the present parliamentary balance, in which the Popular Front holds about 31 percent of the assembly seats.

Minister of the Interior Mario Scelba announced that the government had requisitioned all trucks and cars belonging to Northern Italian industry to prevent their possible use by Communists.

SCELBA ALSO said that "false and tendentious" election results are being broadcast by clandestine radio stations operating on national wave bands.

Some of the broadcasters were arrested in lightning raids. Scelba called upon the people to remain calm, saying:

"The government is vigilant. We have the situation in hand."

Italy's defense minister announced that a "flawless plan" is in readiness to thwart a Communist plot expected to coincide with the counting of election returns.

With the elections at an end, unusual troop movements were reported throughout the entire Istrian peninsula in the Trieste region.

Thirty former British landing craft for tanks and troops crowded the harbor of Pola. Scores of sloops also were concentrated there.

There were a few reported incidents throughout the country in which voters were handed ballots already marked for the Popular Front or the Christian Democrats. But these incidents were quickly cleared up.

Police flying squads—part of the 350,000 troops and police mobilized to keep order—broke up Communist groups which attempted to keep the opposition from the polls in a number of places.

VOTING in the industrial north, where the leftists are strongest, was heaviest yesterday. There, an average of 87 percent of the eligible voters cast their ballots yesterday. In the southern provinces, only about 73 percent voted.

Such Leftist strongholds as Milan, Bari, Florence, Grosseto and Via Reggio reported that more than 80 percent of the voters have been to the polls.

In Rome, some 11,000 police and carabinieri patrolled the streets to keep order. There were between four and six stations at each polling place, armed with rifles, pistols, and clubs, which they were not called upon to use.

Taft Lambastes Stassen Claim

ASHTABULA, April 19 — Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Republican presidential aspirant, is due in Ashtabula Wednesday for a resumption of his Ohio campaign against Harold E. Stassen for delegates to the GOP national convention.

Campaign leaders indicated Taft would continue his Ohio speaking tour until the primary elections May 4. The former Minnesota governor seeks to gain 23 of 53 delegates from the "favorite son" candidate.

In a speech at Burton yesterday before his return to Washington, Taft laid claim to the title of a "true liberal" and blasted Stassen for failure to try for a Senate seat two years ago. He said:

"Stassen says he is a liberal. I would ask the question: What is he liberal of?"

Man Declines $10,000 Prize

CLEVELAND, April 19—Cornelius G. Walters of Cleveland would rather be right than win $10,000.

Walters, president and treasurer of the Master Products Co., held the winning ticket of a raffle held by St. Ignatius high school yesterday. When his ticket number was called, Walters said:

"We decline the prize. Please draw another ticket."

Walters explained that the winning ticket, which had his company's name written on it, had been purchased by the firm "merely as a contribution to the school." He added:

"It is against our company policy to accept any prizes."

Another ticket was drawn and the new winner was Miss Agnes M. Clarke, a suburban Lakewood school teacher. Miss Clarke has no intention of returning the money. She expects to take a long trip and invest the remainder of the $10,000.

Ohio Women Claimed Modest

CLEVELAND, April 19—Ohio's modest women have been presented a one-strap bathing suit—sort of half strapless and half strapped affair.

The suit went on display yesterday at the opening of the Midsummer Caravan and Merchandise Fair of the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Apparel Club in Cleveland.

According to Club President E. L. Van Baalen, Ohio women are more modest than women in Florida and California; therefore, the sedate one-strapper has been created for wear at more conservative beaches.

2-1 Edge Shown In Returns

The ministry of interior announced that the percentage of voters who went to the polls yesterday far exceeded the turnout in the 1946 elections.

Interior ministry officials forecast that before the polls close today, about 90 percent of Italy's 29 million voters will have cast ballots.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi, leader of the Christian Democrats, main anti-Communist party, warned, however, that no anti-Communist landslide is indicated. He predicted that there will be no great change in the present parliamentary balance, in which the Popular Front holds about 31 percent of the assembly seats.

Minister of the Interior Mario Scelba announced that the government had requisitioned all trucks and cars belonging to Northern Italian industry to prevent their possible use by Communists.

SCELBA ALSO said that "false and tendentious" election results are being broadcast by clandestine radio stations operating on national wave bands.

Some of the broadcasters were arrested in lightning raids. Scelba called upon the people to remain calm, saying:

"The government is vigilant. We have the situation in hand."

Italy's defense minister announced that a "flawless plan" is in readiness to thwart a Communist plot expected to coincide with the counting of election returns.

With the elections at an end, unusual troop movements were reported throughout the entire Istrian peninsula in the Trieste region.

Thirty former British landing craft for tanks and troops crowded the harbor of Pola. Scores of sloops also were concentrated there.

There were a few reported incidents throughout the country in which voters were handed ballots already marked for the Popular Front or the Christian Democrats. But these incidents were quickly cleared up.

Police flying squads—part of the 350,000 troops and police mobilized to keep order—broke up Communist groups which attempted to keep the opposition from the polls in a number of places.

VOTING in the industrial north, where the leftists are strongest, was heaviest yesterday. There, an average of 87 percent of the eligible voters cast their ballots yesterday. In the southern provinces, only about 73 percent voted.

Such Leftist strongholds as Milan, Bari, Florence, Grosseto and Via Reggio reported that more than 80 percent of the voters have been to the polls.

In Rome, some 11,000 police and carabinieri patrolled the streets to keep order. There were between four and six stationed at each polling place, armed with rifles, pistols, and clubs, which they were not called upon to use.

Taft Lambastes Stassen Claim

ASHTABULA, April 19 — Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Republican presidential aspirant, is due in Ashtabula Wednesday for a resumption of his Ohio campaign against Harold E. Stassen for delegates to the GOP national convention.

Campaign leaders indicated Taft would continue his Ohio speaking tour until the primary elections May 4. The former Minnesota governor seeks to gain 23 of 53 delegates from the "favorite son" candidate.

In a speech at Burton yesterday before his return to Washington, Taft laid claim to the title of a "true liberal" and blasted Stassen for failure to try for a Senate seat two years ago. He said:

"Stassen says he is a liberal. I would ask the question: What is he liberal of?"

Man Declines $10,000 Prize

CLEVELAND, April 19—Cornelius G. Walters of Cleveland would rather be right than win $10,000.

Walters, president and treasurer of the Master Products Co., held the winning ticket of a raffle held by St. Ignatius high school yesterday. When his ticket number was called, Walters said:

"We decline the prize. Please draw another ticket."

Walters explained that the winning ticket, which had his company's name written on it, had been purchased by the firm "merely as a contribution to the school." He added:

"It is against our company policy to accept any prizes."

Another ticket was drawn and the new winner was Miss Agnes M. Clarke, a suburban Lakewood school teacher. Miss Clarke has no intention of returning the money. She expects to take a long trip and invest the remainder of the $10,000.

Ohio Women Claimed Modest

CLEVELAND, April 19—Ohio's modest women have been presented a one-strap bathing suit—sort of half strapless and half strapped affair.

The suit went on display yesterday at the opening of the Midsummer Caravan and Merchandise Fair of the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Apparel Club in Cleveland.

According to Club President E. L. Van Baalen, Ohio women are more modest than women in Florida and California; therefore, the sedate one-strapper has been created for wear at more conservative beaches.

GREAT OLD-TIMERS

THE BURNING question in Boston today is Dave Ferriss's arm. Also Tex Hughson's. If these two pitchers, who had an off-season last year, return to form, the Red Sox should win the American League pennant. Ferriss won 46 games in his first two years at Boston, within one of Grover Alexander's modern record.

And yet these modern records look faded beside that of an old-timer like the Boston hero of the '90's, "Kid Nichols." In 1892 and 1893 he won 68 games, followed by 32 in 1894. One hundred games won in three years is something that has not been done for many a year. Amos Rusie, the old New York speed king, is said to have beaten even this record by one game.

Nichols was still living a year or two ago, according to Harold Kaese's new book, "The Boston Braves." He was working in a Boston bowling alley, and presumably unrecognized by today's fans who patronize his establishment. Why is it, Kaese asks, that Nichols has never been included in the Baseball Hall of Fame?

NOT GOOD CITIZENS

IN NEW Jersey three boys from 11 to 13, all of good families, shot a neighbor in the back, just for the thrill. Some public-spirited citizens got up a youth program on a neighborhood block basis, like that for civilian defense during the war. How did the community respond?

"I wouldn't mind helping out," was the typical response, "but I don't want to go into all the houses again." In other words, they are willing to help, provided they don't have to do anything. Those with this attitude may fool themselves, but it doesn't fool anyone else.

Mrs. Hortense Keeler, a member of the New Jersey Governor's Committee on Youth, says, "That is the matter. No one gives a darn about what is going on in other persons' houses. I hope this can be changed before an atomic bomb drops."

Probably these lazy folk would be surprised and resentful if they were called bad citizens.

"THE EARTH is carrying its own watch," says a scientist, but what if Mother Earth should grow careless and let time run down?

"THE WORST thing about modern progress," says an old fellow we know, "is that it's so hard to find a partner interested in a game of horseshoes."

AS FOR THOSE British coin hoarders now charged with "endangering business life," we always thought their funny money would come to some bad end.

The prize humorist is the fellow who first coined the term, "gentle Spring".

Inside WASHINGTON

Return of General Clay
to U. S. Seen Imminent

Reveal Feud of Navy-
Spaatz, Ex-AF Chief
Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—When the present Russo-American impasse in Berlin is solved—and cooler heads in Washington are certain that it will be—look for the quiet withdrawal of Gen. Lucius Clay as commander of the United States forces in Germany.

Clay is scheduled to return to the United States shortly, and this will be the reason given for his departure from Berlin. However, even if his tour of duty was not drawing to a close, United States anxiety over the touch-and-go situation in Berlin would have caused his withdrawal because of fears of a new series of incidents.

Official Washington believes that the British are handling their part in the difficulty much more realistically than has Clay.

Clay, who served in the office of war mobilization in Washington, was a controversial figure during the war because of his impulsive temperament. Those in Washington who remember this characteristic have expressed fears that it is not conducive to ultimate settlement of the difficulties.

However, while Clay is publicly charged with sole responsibility for working out a solution to the problem, his moves are being closely watched by his Army and State department superiors.

SPAATZ'S RETIREMENT—The retirement of Gen. Carl Spaatz as Air Force chief points up a couple of red-hot controversies between (a) Spaatz and the Navy and (b) the Air Force and Rep. Carl Hinshaw (R), California, vice chairman of the congressional aviation policy board.

Spaatz had made it clear for a long time that he would retire and hand America's air power destiny to a younger man. His departure, however, at a time when the Air Force faces a sharp expansion, surprised Washington.

These Days

A fallacy that somehow has gained currency in this country is that academic freedom in some manner makes a professor in a university sacrosanct. It does not such thing. All that academic freedom means is that a scholar shall not be prohibited from speaking or writing what he chooses to believe is the truth. For his choice he must assume responsibility even as you and I.

Freedom involves not only the right of expression but also the right of rejection. Each individual enjoys the privilege of rejecting what he believes to be untrue, harmful and malicious. He is lawfully entitled to express that rejection and to state the reasons for his choice, either verbally or in writing or by such an act as withholding from purchasing a commodity or making a contribution.

For instance, I never purchase a ticket for a motion picture written or produced by one whom I know or suspect to be a Communist or a fellow traveler, or in which such a person performs, no matter how small a part. That is my choice and I am fully within my rights. I make no contribution to a philanthropic institution or to a public cause with which even one Communist is connected, or the record of which indicates an acceptance of or an alliance with Communists. That is my right and privilege and no one can prevent me from pursuing my choice.

I have recently received a number of letters from persons complaining about articles I wrote concerning Prof. Frederick Schuman of Williams College and Prof. L. C. Dunn of Columbia University. They contend that neither is a Communist. I do not know whether they are or are not nor have I examined that question. Nor do I care to examine it. If they are Communists, that is their choice and responsibility; if they are not Communists, that is their choice and responsibility. It is none of my business to decide what others are to believe. All I did in connection with these gentlemen was to publish a record. They have ample access to space to add to the record.

What always strikes me as queer is that professors so rarely can take criticism. For instance, that professor in Indiana seems to be sore because his support of Wallace resulted in his rejection by his colleagues and by folks in the town where his college is situated. If he has the right of choice to support Wallace, they have the right of choice of rejecting him for supporting Wallace. He need not explain why he supports Wallace; they need not explain why they reject him. Rejection is as great a right as acceptance.

I should be the last man in the world to recommend that a professor be dismissed for his views, as long as those who employ him are satisfied that his scholarship and character are satisfactory. Again, it is none of my business whether he is retained or not. That is the responsibility of the president and trustees of the institution. Schuman and Dunn may turn out to be intellectual colossi compared with whom I may be the tiniest pigmy in the world.

The question is: How does it all stack up against the record? Those who are satisfied with the record will accept this column; those who are not, will reject it. But the professors insist that they may not be rejected. They are infallible and sacrosanct.

The professors, apparently, do not want to risk an analysis of their records. They dislike being scrutinized or analyzed; they only seek praise and honors.

Observers had thought that the man Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower called the world's greatest air strategist would stay on till the expansion was completed. The inside is this:

Spaatz is firmly convinced that a Navy and naval aviation is unnecessary to national defense. When the joint chiefs of staff drew up their unified defense plan and assigned the Navy big roles on the sea and in the air, Spaatz felt that the time had come for him to get out.

Hinshaw, who may be secretary of air if the Republicans elect a president in November, thinks the Air Force pleads its case too strenuously, to the detriment of the other services. He has told Air Secretary Stuart Symington of his views more than once.

Hinshaw believes in air power, but he also believes its ends can better be gained by more diplomatic, less pile-driving methods.

MACARTHUR'S STOCK—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's presidential candidacy stock was handed a new set of wings by the latest announcement on behalf of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that he will, under "no circumstances," accept a Democratic "draft."

Eisenhower's anti-Truman Democratic friends are "dying hard," but they are slowly realizing that it may not be in the cards for the general to agree to be a candidate.

This gives MacArthur's multiplying supporters the claim that should the Far Eastern commander become the GOP nominee, he might poll a considerable portion of the tremendous vote that would have gone to Eisenhower had "Ike" elected to enter the race.

LEWIS STRATEGY—John L. Lewis' letter to his miners telling them that they were under no orders from him to continue their walkout was another classic example of the mine chief's shrewd strategy. It might have been a back-to-work signal to the 400,000 striking UMW members.

It may become, however, the cornerstone of Lewis' defense in a court battle with the government over an injunction to end the mine shutdown. Lewis will argue that he did not call a strike and presumably did not keep the men idle.

Lewis designed the letter as a double-edged weapon. He apparently felt that it would cause the government to delay its injunction announcement 48 hours, but this failed.

It is doubtful whether President Truman had seen the full details of the Lewis message before he ordered Attorney General Tom A.

"The Authority on Authorities"

"VULNERABLE" IS RIGHT

WHEN the lawmakers selected "vulnerable" to describe the condition of a pair which has won a game, it picked a good word. The high cost of an unsuccessful doubled contract then causes crafty players to consider carefully before venturing a doubtful low bid or a high sacrifice. It is true that being vulnerable—having a game—is more desirable than being not vulnerable and having no game. But that asset can be turned instantly into a terrific liability if a player doesn't watch his step.

East tried to defend himself, in the post-deal argument with his partner, by pleading that West's pass of 4-Spades was a "forcing pass," since West had opened the bidding. He held that his own duty therefore was to double or sacrifice, and he took his choice. What he failed to consider, even if he thought of the forcing pass principle, was that he had a third alternative, when vulnerable especially, which was merely to pass.

The "get acquainted hour" in First church was attended by 145 persons to honor 56 persons who became members during the conference year.

Dr. W. L. Sprouse, of East Main street, presided. The "song of welcome" was sung under the direction of Mrs. Frank Wantz and Mrs. C. E. Wells.

Following a song by the group they were invited to the tea table. Mrs. Elisha Kneisley and Mrs. Thorne presided at the damask covered buffet table. A bouquet of Spring flowers centered the table flanked by burning yellow tapers. Places were laid at tables decorated with bowls of violet plants.

Mrs. Roliff Wolford served as chairman of Circle 6 for arrangements of the social affair. Approximately 100 Presbyterians attended the reception for their 37 new members staged in the social rooms of the Presbyterian church.

Members of the Pres-Weds class were responsible for the affair.

The Rev. Donald E. Mitchell welcomed the new members and George David Young voiced the response.

Vigilance In Fighting Plant Diseases, Insects Cited

Corn Borers Near Time For Hatching

Thorough Plowing Cited By Agent

"Uncontrolled insects, diseases and weeds can cut the efficiency of the plant food you add to your soil," Larry Best, Pickaway County agricultural agent declared.

"Adequate nutrition is the No. 1 essential for high yields," he said, "but vigilance in fighting disease and insect enemies is vital, too. That is why it is so important to control infestations of the corn borer—destructive insect pest in the corn belt."

Best points out that corn stalks left on the top of the ground are excellent "homes" for corn borers over the Winter and Spring months.

"Unless these borers are destroyed before they emerge in the Spring," he warns, "they will infest early planted corn."

ENTOMOLOGISTS recommend the following steps for controlling corn borer infestations and promoting full yields of corn:

1—Complete plowing under of cornstalks before the moths emerge. This also has the advantage of adding organic matter to the soil.

2—Delay corn planting until after the first flight of moths. This is usually about May 20 in Ohio.

3—High value crops such as sweet corn and hybrid seed that are planted early may be probably sprayed, according to state authorities.

Combine insect, disease and weed control with plenty of plant food and improved soil tilth for top yields and high profits, Best suggests.

Soil tilth can be built up by deep-rooted legumes in the rotation. These will add organic matter, build soil structure and make the soil a better "sponge" for rainfall.

"These control measures often involve timeliness of plowing and planting," he declares, "plus a little extra care for clean plowing. They cost little but their benefit can be great."

"Their advantage lies in continuity. You may get by without them in one year. But you may lose enough in another year to make it costly."

Herbert Lauds Small Business

Ray J. Goetting, Circleville Soft Water Service dealer, Monday returned from Columbus, where he attended a two-day Culligan district convention which was welcomed to the capital city by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

"In a country where education, liberty, freedom and enterprise flourish as nowhere else in the world, I want to congratulate each Culligan dealer, as an independent businessman, on the progress of the soft water service industry," he said.

Hourly Earning Setup Is Urged By Dairymen

WASHINGTON, April 19—Thirty spokesman for the dairy farmers has proposed establishment of a new parity formula to fix hourly farm earnings at an equal level with hourly industrial earnings.

Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation, told the Senate agriculture committee he endorsed the objective of a long-range farm bill but was critical of several provisions of the measure.

Holman objected vigorously to the section of the bill which would transfer the functions of the Farmers' Home Administration to new state and county farm associations established in the bill. He declared:

"These state and county associations as set up will inevitably become political machines—wielding great powers—bloom into political action organizations dealing with state legislatures and Congress itself."

Holman also urged that the provision for an advisory agricultural council to be appointed

COLUMBUS, April 19—Ten-year-old Louis Hoskinson was in a Columbus hospital today—with only one leg.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hoskinson of Columbus, said he took his mother's and father's fishing rods along Saturday afternoon when he and a friend, Darrell Gleason, 10, went to the banks of Alum creek.

Louis said he planned to "run away to Florida and make a lot of money" when he lost one of the rods in the water.

By midnight the boys were in a railroad yard where Darrell threw the remaining rod over a freight.

Louis started to crawl under the car to retrieve the rod when, he said, "the train gave a quick jerk and hit my head. It knocked me down and before I could move, the wheel ran over my leg."

Yachtsman Loses Part Of Hand

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., April 19—Hudson T. Ortman, prominent Columbus yachtsman, lost part of his hand as he aided in flood relief.

Ortman was taken to a hospital in Gallipolis yesterday after the propeller on a boat he was repairing, unexpectedly started rotating. The blades hacked off part of Ortman's hand and threw him into the Ohio river. He was rescued by companions on board the boat.

Vigilance In Fighting Plant Diseases, Insects Cited

Corn Borers Near Time For Hatching

Thorough Plowing Cited By Agent

"Uncontrolled insects, diseases and weeds can cut the efficiency of the plant food you add to your soil," Larry Best, Pickaway County agricultural agent declared.

"Adequate nutrition is the No. 1 essentials for high yields," he said, "but vigilance in fighting disease and insect enemies is vital, too. That is why it is so important to control infestations of the corn borer—destructive insect pest in the corn belt."

Best points out that corn stalks left on the top of the ground are excellent "homes" for corn borers over the Winter and Spring months.

"Unless these borers are destroyed before they emerge in the Spring," he warns, "they will infest early planted corn."

ENTOMOLOGISTS recommend the following steps for controlling corn borer infestations and promoting full yields of corn:

1—Complete plowing under of cornstalks before the moths emerge. This also has the advantage of adding organic matter to the soil.

2—Delay corn planting until after the first flight of moths. This is usually about May 20 in Ohio.

3—High value crops such as sweet corn and hybrid seed that are planted early may be profitably sprayed, according to state authorities.

Combine insect, disease and weed control with plenty of plant food and improved soil tilth for top yields and high profits, Best suggests.

Soil tilth can be built up by deep-rooted legumes in the rotation. These will add organic matter, build soil structure and make the soil a better "sponge" for rainfall.

"These control measures often involve timeliness of plowing and planting," he declares, "plus a little extra care for clean plowing. They cost little but their benefit can be great."

"Their advantage lies in continuity. You may get by without them in one year. But you may lose enough in another year to make it costly."

Hourly Earning Setup Is Urged By Dairymen

WASHINGTON, April 19—A spokesman for the dairy farmers has proposed establishment of a new parity formula to fix hourly farm earnings at an industrial level with hourly industrial earnings.

Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation, told the Senate agriculture committee he endorsed the objective of a long-range farm bill but was critical of several provisions of the measure.

Holman objected vigorously to the section of the bill which would transfer the functions of the Farmers' Home Administration to a new state ad county farm associations established in the bill. He declared:

"These state and county associations as set up will inevitably become political machines—wielding great powers—bloom into political action organizations dealing with state legislatures and Congress itself."

Holman also urged that the provision for an advisory agricultural council to be appointed

Lad, 10, Loses Leg In Mishap

COLUMBUS, April 19—Ten-year-old Louis Hoskinson was in a Columbus hospital today—with only one leg.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hoskinson of Columbus, said he took his mother's and father's fishing rods along Saturday afternoon when he and a friend, Darrell Gleason, 10, went to the banks of Alum creek.

Louis said he planned to "run away to Florida and make a lot of money" when he lost one of the rods in the water.

By midnight the boys were in a railroad yard where Darrell threw the remaining rod over a freight.

Louis started to crawl under the car to retrieve the rod when, he said, "the train gave a quick jerk and hit my head. It knocked me down and before I could move, the wheel ran over my leg."

30 Suspects Due For Grilling

COLUMBUS, April 19—Thirty men were scheduled for questioning today in connection with the March 31 knife slaying of Mrs. Marcella Smilack, Columbus housewife.

Police said the men were possible suspects in the Smilack slaying and were picked up in the hope of clearing up a number of recent stabbings and cuttings in Southeast Columbus.

The men were held for investigation of carrying concealed weapons, theft, burglary and pocket picking, and one man was said to be a fugitive from justice. Police said many of them had been sought for weeks.

by the President to be eliminated. He termed the setup "the fine flowering of interlocking American super-bureaucracy."

The milk producers milk association official said proposed changes in the parity formula were "in accord" with federation policies.
